No fluid or medicins has ever been discovered which so nearly resembles the gastric juice or saliva in decomposing food and strengthening the organs of digestion as this preparation of Saraparilla. It positively cures every case of dyspepais, however severe or chronic.

Bank Department, Albany, May 10, 1845.

Dr. Townsend—Sir: I have been afflicted for several years with dyspepais in its worst form, attended with sourness of stomach, loss of appetite, extreme hearthurn, and a great aversion to all kinds of food, and for weeks, (what I could eat) I have been mable to retain but a small portion on my stomach. It should be in the hunds of every person, who, by business, or general course or lire, is predisposed to the very many adments that render line a curse, instead of a blessing, and a outer result in death.

TESTIMONY.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your question respecting the use of Dr. Drake's Panacea, I will say, that although a perfect disbeliever in the existence of a Panacea, or cure for all discusses, however valuable it may be in certain conditions of the system, still I have believed that a cure to Consumption would be discussed as one or later, and curtosity led me to try your medicine in two very invelerable cases. They were pronounced by the attending physicians to be Prinonanty consumers by the attending physicians to be Prinonanty consumption, and abundoned by them as increased as everal very able practitioners for a number of years, and they said she had "old fashioned Consumption contains with Serviala," and that she might linger for some time, but could not be performently releaved. In both cases, the effect of the Panacea has been most gratifying. Only four or five bottles were used by one of the persons before she began to improve rapidly. The other to k about tea, I will only add that familiar as I am with consumption by inheritance and by extensive observation as a study, and is a construction of tar, bonoset, and other vegetable traines, as well as of many of the expectorants and solutives, I should never have a consumended the use of Drake's Panacea if I bell not been acquired with the ingredients. Suffice it to say that these in accordance with a the say of Consumption by such as the present centained state, form probably the best alterative that has ever been made. The cure is an econdumed with a the say of Consumption by such as in accordance with a the say of Consumption by such and in their present centained state, form probably the best alterative that has ever been made. The cure is an econdumed with a the say of Consumption by such and not on medicine, and new established by facts which admit of no dispute.

Very Respectfully Yours, 1, C. GUNN.

Very Respectfully Yours, I. C. GUNN.

To use the language of another, "Dr. Drake's Panacea in always salutary in its effects—never injurious. It is not as Opiate—it is not and Expectorant. It is not intended to lail the invalid into a fatal security. It is a great remedy—a grand healing and curative compound, the great and only remedy which medical science and skill has yet produced for the treatment of this hitherto meanquered mahady. And no pers in afflicted with this dread disease, will be just to himself and his friends, if he go down to the grave without testing its virtues. A single lottle, in most cases, will produce a favorable change in the condition of any potient, however low."

TO THE LADIUS.

Ladies of pulse complexion and consumptive labilite, and such as are debilitated by those obstructions which females are liable to, are restored by the use of a bottle or two, to bloom vigor. It is by far the best remedy ever discovered for weakly children, and such as have bad humors; being pleasant, they take it. It immediately restores the appetite, strength and color.

Nothing can be more surprising than its invigorating effects on the human frame. Persons, all weakness and lassitude before taking it, at once become robust and full of energy under its influence. It immediate counteracts the nervelessness of the female frame. TO THE LADIES.

In presenting the public with a remedy for the treatment and cure of Fryeri and Ager and other bill as disenses, no apology is needed. Vost mumbers in the United Saidos, who suffer from these affections in their varied forms, are compelled to seek relief from other starces than the immediate prescriptions of the regular physician. It becomes therefore an object of humanity, as well as of public interest, to bring before them a remedy prepared from much experience, and which may nivers be refled upon as sarr, herefore the true character of the INDIA CHOLAGOGUE, is amply attested by the universal success with which it has been employed.
